

Nebraska Earth Systems Education Network (NESEN)

Part of the School of Natural Resources

What is NESEN?

The Nebraska Earth Systems Education Network (NESEN) is a program within the School of Natural Resources (SNR), Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, University of Nebraska-Lincoln. NESEN's goal is to improve linkages between K-12 educators and earth science resources.

Want to Join NESEN?

By joining the NESEN network you will receive our electronic newsletter three or four times a year as well as periodic flyers and emails regarding certain workshops, programs, and science related opportunities for teachers.
